STUDIES IN GESTALT THERAPY 1.1, 2007
Self and intersubjectivity

INDICE

Editorial
Dan Bloom, Margherita Spagnuolo Lobb, Frank-M. Staemmler 5

Section 1 — Theoretical Bridges

Self, Subject, and Intersubjectivity:
Gestalt Therapists Reply to Questions
From the Editors and From Daniel Stern and Michael Mahoney
Lynne Jacobs, Peter Philippson, and Gordon Wheeler 13

Section 2 — Historical Bridges

The Ambiguities of Origins:
Pragmatism, the University of Chicago,
and Paul Goodman’s Self
Richard Kitzler 41
Section 3 — Bridges in Practice

Self-Regulation of the Therapeutic Meeting
From Constructivist and Gestalt Therapy Perspectives:
A Transcribed Experiment
Michael Mahoney, Margherita Spagnuolo Lobb,
Michael Clemmens, Andre Marquis

Commemorating Michael Mahoney
Peter Mullen

Section 4 — A Critical Eye on Books and Essays

Building Bridges Across Divides With Gestalt Therapy:
Book Review of T. Levine Bar-Yoseph, 2005
Karen Humphrey

Panic Attacks, Gestalt Therapy, and Postmodernity
Book Review of G. Francesetti, 2005
Giulio Gasca

Gestalt Therapy Research
Book Review of P. Barber, 2006
Paolo Migone
Section 5 — A Critical Eye on Conferences

Gestalt Therapists Meet in Germany
Christof Weber

115

AAGT Convenes in Canada
Stephan Tobin

119

Section 6 — Bridges Toward a Wider Perspective

Committed Relativism
Malcolm Parlett

125